DETAILED ACTION

Priority

The later-filed application must be an application for a patent for an invention, which is also disclosed, in the prior application (the parent or original nonprovisional application or provisional application). The disclosure of the invention in the parent application and in the later-filed application must be sufficient to comply with the requirements of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112. See Transco Products, Inc. v. Performance Contracting, Inc., 38 F.3d 551, 32 USPQ2d 1077 (Fed. Cir. 1994).

The disclosure of the prior-filed application, Application No. 09/676056, filed 9/29/2000, fails to provide adequate support or enablement in the manner provided by the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112 for one or more claims of this application. Therefore, the present application does not get the benefit of the earlier filing date of the prior-filed application.

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claim 1-8 and 10-12, drawn to a method of updating sensors from a remote station classified in class 340, subclass 870.07.
 - II. Claim 9, drawn to a message data structure, classified in class 370, subclass 470.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because there could be any number of data field in a sensor signal and the data contained in each field could vary. The subcombination has separate utility such as it could be used in any data transmission environment.

3. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. During a telephone conversation with Albert Smith on August 29, 2006 a provisional election was made without traverse to prosecute the invention of I, claims 1-8,10-12. Applicant in replying to this Office action must make affirmation of this election. Claim 9 is withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 2612

(e) The invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 10-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Forth et al '833.

Considering claim 10, Forth discloses the limitations of this claim (see paragraphs 0081-0085, 0088-0089 and 0104).

Considering claims 11,12 Forth discloses the limitation of these claims (see paragraph 0058).

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 1-8 are allowed.

8. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: in the environment of updating a network of sensors the closes useable prior art Forth '833 fails to teach or suggest receiving at the remote station the acceptance or rejection of the update from any one of the selected sensor. Forth teaches the use of a revision control which allows the sensor to revert to a previous configuration or a user to review and reject an updated configuration but does not teach or suggest the sensor making the decision to accept or reject an updated configuration.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Mester et al '142 discloses the scope of this invention. However, Mester is antedated by the present application.
10. Ito et al '218, Balakrishnan et al '240, Zhao et al '492 and Younis et al '585 discloses methods of updating a network of sensors
